Your Submitted Press Release:

Film and DVD transfer services are popular for home movies, CDs, slides, 8mm film and tapes. People put these files into digital media files like mp4 for easy copying and sharing.

With modern technology Film and DVD Transfer to Digital Media has never been easier!

With digital media taking over the movie and video landscape it's a good idea to transfer all those home videos, 8mm films, CDs, and DVDs to a digital file that is editable and storable. Having these memories in a digital version will make it possible for customers to make youtube videos, computer video presentations, and other digital projects. These files are also easy to copy and send out to family members. It's very important for homeowners and family members to get these old memories stored properly so they can be shared forever. People will need a computer, scanner, software that will allow them to transfer the files. If customers don't have the right equipment at home they can reach out to local companies that offer this service.

People have quite a few options when it comes to saving these types of media. Scanning photos is pretty easy but when it comes to transferring VHS movies to MP4 and 8mm film to DVD customers would be better off using a company that specializes in that type of service. There are national companies now offering this service. They have all the necessary machines and computers to make the transfer as easy as possible while keeping as much of the quality as possible. Many offer in-house service and mail in services for moving types of media.

One popular company for Film and Digital Media Transfer is Audio Video Workshop based out of Redwood City California. They offer every kind of transfer that a customer would need including photos, slides, audio, digital, DVD, 8mm Film and all other popular forms of media. With shipping fast and easy it is now very easy and affordable to get all of your old pictures and VHS recordings transferred to a digital source. Searching google should help customers interested in this service find a company near them or they can always go with a mail in option.
